CHICAGO – That's a wrap! After seven days of fantastic films and packed houses, the 4th Annual Chicago Critics Film Festival (CCFF) had their closing night on May 26th, 2016, with the film "Operator" – featuring Martin Starr ("Silicon Valley"), and directed by Logan Kibens. HollywoodChicago.com was at the event for all the celebrity appearances, and photographer Joe Arce got these Exclusive Portraits.

The CCFF was created by the Chicago Film Critics Association in 2013, and the 4th annual event took place at Chicago's historic Music Box Theatre. The festival offered a selection of films comprised of recent festival favorites and as-yet-undistributed works covering a wide variety of genres, and it's currently the only major film critics group hosting its own festival.

The only honor given at the fest is the Audience "Favorite" Award, to acknowledge the film-loving patrons at the CCFF. That award went to "Hunt for the Wilderpeople," the engaging comedy from writer/director Taika Waititi ("What We Do in the Shadows").

Photographer Joe Arce was on the scene, for every celebrity appearance at the CCFF, and shot Exclusive Portraits in association with the films "War on Everyone," "Morris from America," "Little Men," "American Fable," "In a Valley of Violence," "First Girl I Loved," and the Closing Night film, the shot-in-Chicago "Operator."
