Besides the obvious incredible selection of international cinematic treats, the Chicago International Film Festival offers a prestigious line-up of tributes, themes, perspectives and interactions with the movies, all in a whirlwind of events and screenings. HollywoodChicago.com offers five ways to love the festival, as a guide to getting the most out of the Film Fest experience.

150 Movies from 50 Countries

The obvious first tip is to see the films, whether short or feature, especially those from far off or nearby countries that you have visited or are interested in. There is no finer way to see a reflection of culture than in the modern cinema, and there is no finer way to see ourselves in that reflection. Besides the big event pictures, go to the festival guide (click here [22]) and see the world.

Tributes and Appearances

For two weeks, Chicago becomes the center of the cinema universe, and the stars, filmmakers and influencers of the movies descend onto the Festival scene. There will be special tributes to iconic actors Patrick Stewart, Vanessa Redgrave and Alfre Woodard, as well as directors, actors and producers representing their works throughout the run of the fest. Keep an eye out for the red carpet events and director/performer Q&As as part of the screenings.

★ Themes, Spotlights and Perspectives

If you have specific interests, the Film Festival can fulfill them. Take a deep breath, and indulge in International, New Directors and the Documentary Competitions. Partake in the U.S. Indies and extremely popular “After Dark” series. Get illuminated by the “Spotlight” category, honoring Architecture and International Film Noir. Engage in the Festival’s panorama on local “City & State” films, Black Perspectives, the LGBTQ+ Outlook Competition, the Cinemas of the Americas and the Short film programs, which encompass all of those subject categories in a more compact running time. Exhale.

★ Industry Days

This recent addition to Festival events has proven to be one of its most popular. Industry Days is a hub for filmmakers and industry professional to connect, share ideas and find inspiration. From October 19th through the 22nd, the “Days” highlight current and future trends in the art/industry of movie making. Panels are open to the general public and to Industry Days badge holders (see information on the website link below). If you’re interested in the business of show business, Industry Days can be a vital participation.

★ Because Life is a Movie

Do you often find yourself isolated because you want to talk in-depth about a film, and the world around you is not interested? That is impossible at the 53rd Chicago International Film Festival. Everyone is there to participate in discussion and points of view, and catching up with your fellow film travelers is a vital part of loving the Festival. Their catchphrase is your best philosophy, “Because Life is a Movie.”

The Opening Night Film for the 53rd Chicago International Film Festival is “Marshall” on October 12th, 2017, at the AMC River East 21, 322 East Illinois Street, Chicago. The Festival will take place October 12th to October 26th, 2017. Click here [23] for film schedules, information and to purchase tickets.
