CHICAGO – Her latest book is “What Happened,” and much of the U.S. shares that sentiment. Hillary Rodham Clinton promoted that book in Chicago on Oct. 30, 2017. As a former First Lady, Senator, Secretary of State and the first woman to be a major party candidate in history, Ms. Clinton has served this country.

Hillary Diane Rodham was born in Edgewater Hospital in Chicago, and her family moved to nearby Park Ridge (Illinois) where she grew up. Inspired by the revolutionary changes of the 1960s, Ms. Clinton became an activist and law student at Yale University. There she met Bill Clinton, and the two married in 1975. She became First Lady of Arkansas when Bill was elected governor in 1979, and served in that capacity (after skipping a term) until 1992. It was that year that Bill Clinton ran for President of the United States, won that office, and served until 2001.

Hillary Clinton, with her deep knowledge and legal mind, became a valued advisor in the Bill Clinton administration, and began her solo career in politics by getting elected U.S. Senator for the State of New York in 2000 (re-elected 2006). Her first presidential run in 2008 was stifled in the primaries by Barack Obama, but she served honorably in his administration as Secretary of State, bringing down Osama Bin Laden during that time.

Her second run at the presidency in 2016 was even more historic, as she became the first woman in history to be nominated by a major party for the office. Her defeat in that election, spurred by a number of known and unknown factors, became the basis for her seventh book, "What Happened."
