HollywoodChicago.com was able to preview INCEPTION, mini-review below ...

Rating: 5.0/5.0

INCEPTION The 10th Anniversary of this incredible and influential film is shown for the first time in 70mm, exclusively in the whole country at the Music Box Theatre.

Leonardo DiCaprio is Cobb, a “thief” who enters people’s dreams in order to find their secrets. His colleagues are Arthur (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) and Eames (Tom Hardy), and when a final case offer comes about from Saito (Ken Watanabe) for Cobb to finally end his larceny, the team recruits a student (Ellen Page) whose maze theories can get them into the deepest subconsciousness.

The actualities of this process is much more complex, but that is the true joy of the film, a combination of action movie, ultimate romance, desperation and sci-fi redemption. Director Christopher Nolan is a masterful artist, using the modern palette of filmmaking to create a one-of-a-kind work of humanity. This is a must see, especially in anticipation of Nolan’s upcoming film TENET.
