CHICAGO – Patrick McDonald of HollywoodChicago.com appears on “The Morning Mess” with Scott Thompson on WBGR-FM (Monroe, Wisconsin) on December 17th, 2020, reviewing the new film “The Midnight Sky,” which will stream on Netflix beginning December 23rd.

Rating: 3.0/5.0

George Clooney directs and portrays Augustine, a sixtysomething scientist in 2049 whose life's work is to assist the space program to find habitable planets. One such mission is the Ether, with a space crew portrayed by Felicity Jones, David Oyelowo, Tiffany Boone, Demian Bichir and Kyle Chandler. They found a moon on Jupiter that's livable, but hasn't heard from Earth for awhile. It turns out a radiation spike has wiped out life on our planet, and only Clooney's character – trapped in an Arctic lab with an orphaned girl – can warn them.

“The Midnight Sky” will stream on Netflix beginning December 23rd. Featuring George Clooney, Felicity Jones, David Oyelowo, Tiffany Boone, Demian Bichir and Kyle Chandler. Screenplay adapted by Mark L. Smith. Directed by George Clooney. Rated “PG-13”
